You have heard the old farm story that if a man practices lifting a calf every day, from the time it is born, he will find that he is able to lift it when it is a full-grown bull. But have you ever heard what happened to the man who tried it?

U. S. Aroused Over Ousting of Weygand

State Department Stops Economic Aid as Successor Named

VICHY (AP)—The retirement of General Weygand as a delegate general and commander in chief in North Africa was announced officially by the Vichy government Thursday.

The post of delegate general was abolished and a permanent secretary will replace it.

General Alfonso Juin, released from a German prison camp, was named commander-in-chief of the untested French North African forces and General Barre was made commander of the French West Africa, where strategic Dakar is situated.

Vice Admiral Fenard, former aide of Weygand, was appointed permanent secretary general for French Africa. Another aide named Chatelet was appointed general of Algeria.

General Weygand was reported some where in Southern France.

General Weygand, allied generalissimo when the French were beaten by Germany, was said to be cool toward increased collaboration with Germany and his retirement followed 3 full-days of urgent conferences with the aged Petain.

Economic Aid Stopped
WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced Thursday that the U. S. was reviewing its entire relations with France because of the removal of General Weygand as Vichy's pro-council in Africa.

The announcement emphasized that his removal was a development in the growing Franco-German collaboration which might be detrimental to American interests.

It was also announced that all economic assistance to French North Africa had been suspended for the moment and that the U. S. will await action by the French and Germans before determining on this country's future course.

VICHY (AP)—General Maxime Weygand left Vichy for somewhere in south France Thursday amid undeterred reports that he had resigned as Petain's pro-council and commander of North Africa.

His departure, after 3-days of conferences with his chief, coincided with a demand voiced through the German-controlled Paris newspapers for an immediate defense of Africa against what was described as British-American attack.

The newspaper said American influences should be cleared out of North Africa and attacked Admiral William Leahy, U. S. ambassador, who conferred with Petain Thursday.

The newspaper came out with this stand as the British announced a new push into Libya. It said France should allow German military collaboration in carrying out such a program in French Africa.

(There was no clear information as to whether the British had actually pushed into Libya.)

Pictures Wanted of Local Boys in Navy
The Star wants pictures of Hemstead, Nevada and LaFayette county boys who are now serving in the United States Navy—to be published in connection with the forthcoming Navy Recruiting Campaign. Pictures should be brought to the newspaper office immediately, and all will be returned. Here are instructions:

1. Write on back of picture the boys name, and name and address of parents. Advise when the boy enlisted, his class, and his present location.

2. Any clear picture will do, glossy photos being preferred. DO NOT SUBMIT COLORED OR TINTED PICTURES. Whether the boy is in uniform or not makes no difference.

Also, any letters written home by local sailors, telling of naval life, will be appreciated; and The Star will return these to their owners just as it will return the photographs.

More Violence in Spreading Mine Strike

Three Men Shot as Hope for Peaceful Settlement Vanishes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three men were shot and wounded Thursday in Fayette county, hotbed of the captive coal strikers in Pennsylvania, as hopes for settlement of the walkout without government action reached the vanishing point.

The strike, called by United Mine Workers to enforce a demand for a union shop, was still rapidly spreading to commercial pits with upwards of 90,000 commercial idle in sympathy.

In Pennsylvania it was conceded that a complete shutdown of all mines was likely by the week-end.

One miner was shot in the shoulder and taken to a Brownsville hospital and two others here hit in the face and legs as pickets and non-striking miners clashed near the Edgewood mine of the H. C. Frick Co., in Fayette county.

Two hours after the men were wounded, the automobile of mine Superintendent Ames Maher was punctured by bullets but he escaped.

Chances for a settlement of the strike seemed to end late Wednesday when John L. Lewis refused to budge from his "no-compromise" position in the face of new efforts by Roosevelt to end the stoppage.

In rejecting the new peace formula the chief of the CIO's United Mine Workers said that he spoke solely for himself and that no formal reply was possible until the union committee meets Saturday. However, no one in union or government circles doubted that the committee would uphold this verdict.

When the committee meets officially, informed sources believed federal intervention was inevitable—although there was still some difference of opinion on what form this would take.

Some authorized sources seemed convinced the president would have the army take over the mine with the 50,000 troops which are already mobilized and instructed. Others would not rule out the possibility that Roosevelt would first seek a legislative answer to the problem.

The Rev. J. E. Hamill, chairman of the Tuberculosis Seal sales campaign for Hope, announced Thursday the following committees to work with him:

Publicity, Daisy Dorothy Heard, Leonard Ellis.

Speakers, James Pilkinton, E. F. McFadden, Harry Wintermeyer, and Father Dollart.

Personal solicitation, Kiwanis club, with Royce Weisenberger as chairman.

Mailing committee, Mrs. Rammel Young.

School, W. D. Brasher, chairman, Mrs. Crit Stewart, Mrs. George Green, and Mrs. B. C. Hyatt.

Rev. Hamill also announced that 300,000 more Christmas Seals had been printed this year than ever before and that more yet would have to be printed.

The county committees will be announced Friday.

Farm Families Work With FSA, Raise Own Food
Pantries filled with canned and winter meals for the 425 farm families in Hempstead County working with the Farm Security Administration, Laura H. Hodnett, county home management supervisor for the FSA said Thursday.

"The USDA 'Food for Defense' drive emphasizes a live-at-home program," said Mrs. Hodnett. "Farm families working with the FSA raise their own food, and many are already meeting adequate nutrition requirements set forth in the farm defense campaign."

With the canning season drawing to a close, the FSA is encouraging farm families to can their own produce.

Company "A" in Alaska
By Sgt. "Pete" Oliver
November 7, 1941
Basketball season opens tonight with approximately half of the army garrison reporting for practice. Four teams are to be picked from the teams at least, namely: Sgt. Joe Eason and tall lanky Pvt. J. D. Jones, high point man in many a 'cat tussle. Williamson, Patmos, Springfield, Washington and Emmett will furnish quite a few hopp tusslers on the court. A few of the outstanding courtmen from the various Hempstead County towns are: Sgts. Ollen Delaney, Bill Delaney, Joe Booker, Cpls. Wesley Calhoun, Lee Calhoun and Privates Calvin Caldwell, Dallas Cox and several others. Two very good referees being Sgt. Denman Nat Wylie and Cpl. "Buck" Martin. The first game is scheduled for November 17.

Around the Camp
Funeral services were held the other day for our famous mascot "Tennessee". Tennessee, a lovable hound, found during the maneuvers in Tennessee died with a bad case of distemper. He was survived by a number of multitude of Company "A", National Guard and selectees.

Population of our camp increased November 3 with six new members. Mrs. Noma has a blessed event of six (6). At the bedside were Sgts. John Wilson, Sonny Coleman, Fred Taylor and Pvt. Terrell Huston. Mother and children are doing fine.—P. S. Mrs. Noma is a cat.

The first surgical performance was a success. Captain Miller and Lt. Williamson deducted the appendicitis from Private Edward Jenkins, selected from Crosscut, Arkansas. Private Jenkins is doing fine and will soon fill his rank in the organization.

A few of the boys are indulging in a bit of ice skating during their off moments. The ice is only six to ten inches thick but makes a very soft landing field.

This map shows some of the reasons why Japan's Kurusu and Nomura have conferred long and earnestly with President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull. Prospects of war in the Pacific look bad for militant Japan in the above pattern. Entirely encircled by probable enemies, she would be bottled up in one of history's most potent blockades. Action might begin on land, with a Japanese attack on Thailand, on British Burma or on China's lifeline, the Burma Road, as shown on inset map. Major decision, however, would likely involve fleets at sea and in the air.

Tribute Given Vasco Bright

Lt. Percy E. Ramsey Writes From the Philippines

The following letter in tribute to the late Lt. Vasco Bright, Hope football star who was killed in an Army air crash at Bakersfield, was written by his former teammate, Lt. Percy E. Ramsey, on receiving the news in the Philippine Islands.

Ramsey's letter, written November 1, arrived here today, November 20, making the trip in nine days by Pacific Clipper and transcontinental air mail.

Ramsey was an all-state end in the days of Hope's greatest high school football team, with Hugh Stone at the other end. Free-man Stone at tackle, and Vasco Bright at quarter. These four made all-state selections.

Ramsey's letter follows:

Editor, The Star: It is with great sorrow and sadness that I write these few lines, for it brings to mind the passing of a grand and noble person. Truly it is a very dear and loyal friend who has gone on to leave a great many beloved ones to fond memories of the recent past.

Few friends realize the true sacrifice that is being made by the youth of our nation for the preservation of their homes. No tribute is great enough to justify the sadness of parting thoughts for our friends and loved ones who have given a young and useful life for that purpose.

A sacrifice as glorious as though it had been in a sky full of waiting planes of an aggressor enemy has been made. One of the noble youths of America has given his life for his country. Even though he realized the danger he faced every moment in his capacity, it was met by a willingness and fearlessness that is characteristic of this one whom we loved. And although no citations or medals for courage, bravery, or loyalty have been presented, we who knew and loved him know that such small things are unnecessary in unfolding his character before us.

In this small way of empty words I wish to pay my own last tribute to the noble youth who has given his life for his country.

Tanker Hits Truck, 3 Hurt

Tol-E-Tex Oil Truck in Collision Near Sheridan

SHERIDAN — Three men were injured, one critically, when the half-ton truck in which they were riding was struck from the rear by a Tol-E-Tex Oil Company truck driven by Jesse Pickard, 30, of Hope, eight miles north of Sheridan, on Highway 167, at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

James Lunsford, 35, Rison, was reported in a grave condition. He suffered a head injury. M. E. Williams, about 36, and his son, Jesse Williams, also of Rison, and riding in cab with Lunsford, were hurt less seriously. All were taken to University hospital, Little Rock.

Cole and Sheriff W. B. Paxton, said Jesse Pickard, driving the oil truck, told them he was driving toward Little Rock and preparing to pass a lighter truck. He said he decided to stop at the foot of a bridge, however, his brakes failed to hold and he struck the truck, knocking it 60 yards from the highway. The oil truck was thrown several yards on the other side of the highway. Both were demolished.

Officers said no charges had been placed against Pickard pending outcome of Lunsford's injuries. His statement that he was driving 30 miles an hour will not hold, they said.

Russians Admit Kerch Captured

Say 20,000 Germans Killed in Crimea Action

By the Associated Press
The Russian high command Thursday acknowledged that Red army troops had abandoned Kerch for "strategic reasons" and declared that more than 20,000 Germans were annihilated in storming the city.

"Our troops evacuated in an orderly manner under orders of the Soviet high command in order to take up more advantageous positions," the communique said.

On the central front Soviet Marshal Zhukov's Red armies were reported to have crushed new German attacks at Tula, key munitions center 100 miles south of Moscow, in which the Nazis used 30,000 troops and 80 tanks.

Soviet correspondents said the Germans were driven from two villages, about 3 miles from Tula, Wednesday and suffered heavy and bloody losses. The Russians admitted they had been forced to evacuate a number of villages amid bloody fighting in the Volokolamsk sector where the Germans were said to have thrown 5 infantry divisions into action.

Dispatches from Kuibyshev, auxiliary Russian capital, said a German drive against Volkhov, railway junction 80 miles east of Leningrad had been halted and said Leningrad was still in railway communications with the USSR interior.

The Russians were reported to be resisting new German offensives against Moscow with heavy fighting at Volokolamsk, 65 miles to the west, at Kalinin, 95 miles northwest and at Tula, 100 miles south of the capital.

Many famous sayings, spoken at the right strategic moment, have stirred U. S. patriots to great victories, but sometimes the authors of these phrases are forgotten. Can you name the men who originated the following statements?

1. "I only regret that I have one life to lose for my country."
2. "These dead shall not have died in vain... this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom."
3. "Millions for defense, but not a cent for tribute."
4. "I have not yet begun to fight."
5. "I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death."

Surprise Move Has Axis on Heels in Libya

750,000 Troops Open New Front With American-Made Equipment

By the Associated Press
Britain's desert armies, 750,000 strong were reported to be driving deep into Libya Thursday after advancing more than 50 miles on a 140 mile front in a vast and severely launched offensive aimed at knocking the Axis out of North Africa.

Dispatches said the attack, which started at dawn on Tuesday, set the German and Italian troops back on their heels in a shocking surprise.

Prime Minister Churchill told parliament that the long awaited push already had won positions of "marked advantage" and that a decision might come within a few hours in the "great battle of mechanization."

"This is the first time we have met the Germans at least equally well armed," Churchill said, adding that the British had waited and planned and massed its strength for five months before the assault.

"Conditions in the desert in many respects is like those at war. I don't know whether the trial strength has taken place yet between armored forces but it cannot be long delayed."

Few Hours May Decide
"The encounter, when it is achieved, is like a clash of fleets and flotillas and as in a sea battle, all may be settled one way or another in the course of a few hours," he said.

Equipped with American-made tanks, planes, guns, bombs and bullets, the British force, was described as the greatest ever assembled in North Africa—far different from the token armies with which General Wavell swept across most of Libya in 35 days last winter only to be driven out again in the spring.

The new offensive is commanded by Lt. Gen. Allen Gordon Penningham, the man who crushed Italy's east African empire, and on sea his brother, Sir Andrew Penningham.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters, depreciated the surprise element in the attacks, said German and Italian counter attacks had thrown back strong British forces with heavy losses west of Sidi Omar, a desert town.

In Rome Premier Mussolini's high command said Britain's mobilized and armored forces opened an attack against the Italians on a 90 mile front in the Marmarica desert in east Libya and that Fascist counter attacks destroyed a large part of the enemy tanks by the end of the day, while others withdrew.

Axis Scoops at Move
Both German and Italian spokesmen scoffed at the offensive as Britain's reply to an appeal by the Soviet Premier Stalin for a second fighting front.

"Russia wanted a second fighting European continental front and from that point of view all enemy propaganda cannot deny the fact that such a front has not been created," Axis spokesmen said.

"Apparently the Libyan offensive precluded any immediate prospects of British troops helping Russia in the Caucasus, although a force of some size remains still in Iran, Syria, and Iraq."

British dispatches said the initial onrush met little opposition and that Italian forces were falling back as squadrons of U. S. built tanks raced across the sand to lead the opening thrust against Sidi Omar, 20 miles south of the Mediterranean shore and at Fort Maddelena, 50 miles from the coast.

Axis reports said the British were seeking a reunion with imperial forces at Tobruk, 90 miles west of the Egyptian border which has been under siege since last April 11.

Wildcats Outweigh the Bobcats 30 Pounds to Man

The Hope Bobcats will go up against a team that is 30 pounds heavier to man when they meet the powerful Little Rock Wildcats here Friday night on Hammons field in a college game.

Despite the fact that chance for a look gloomy students plan to do in style and have designated the game as homecoming for the Cats.

Miss Mary Jo Monroe has been elected homecoming queen and will crown the game. Her maids are Anna Alexander, Rose Marie Adcox, Mary Elizabeth Bright, and Ruby Moore. Crowning of the queen will precede the battle.

With six losses so far this season, the Bobcats, nevertheless, are determined to give the Wildcats a good fight and have been training hard all week in an effort to build up a defense that will do just that. The Cats led wins over Arkansas, Prescott, Arkville and the Wildcats.

The Bobcats' hopes rest with Jimmy Sims, leading ground gainer this season, who was slightly injured in practice Wednesday but is expected to be in top shape by game time. The punting of Stanford and the plunging and blocking of Ponder and Huddleston are also heavily counted on.

The Wildcats, quite naturally, consider the game a breather. And while they may do so, for the North Little Rock boys are tied with Blytheville for first place in the conference and will play over such teams as Hot Springs, Fort Smith and El Dorado.

However, the Bobcats are expected to put up a stiff battle as the contest is their last home game of the season, which closes Thanksgiving Day with Pine Bluff there.

Game time is called for 8 o'clock.

She advised the farm families to store foods in spaces where a more or less even temperature can be maintained.

LADY BY REQUEST

By HELEN R. WOODWARD

THE STORY: It did not matter that the party, which Diana Tucker had told her mother, Richard Thorpe, to go to the devil, stormed from his office except what must have been thought of her outburst. Anyhow, it was Diana's last day with the firm. Having resisted Thorpe's overtures, wounded his vanity, she had already been given notice, now wondering if she could find other work in the city, or if she would have to return to her farm home. She is ashamed of her show of temper, decides to turn and apologize, meets Stephen Curt leaving the building. He has followed her, his interest captured by the beautiful, fiery girl.

DINNER WITH STEPHEN

"Why are you going back?" Stephen Curt asked, his gaze sweeping over her flushing face. "Forget something?"

Diana, hearing the low, sure notes of his voice, felt that she was listening to all authority and understanding.

"I was going back to apologize," she said simply.

"Don't do it," he commanded, and drew her aside from the crowd. "Thorpe deserved every word you said. I happen to know he's somewhat of a bully. So don't spoil your little victory by retrenchment."

"I'm afraid it wasn't a very ladylike thing to say," she admitted wistfully, and saw him shake with laughter.

"Ladylike!" he chuckled. "So you were reared in that tradition, were you? My child, you would make a fine museum piece to be viewed on Wednesdays and Fridays only!"

"It's not nice of you to laugh at me," she said reproachfully.

He sobered instantly. "No, it isn't. But then, perhaps I was not taught your sort of kindness. And we can't stand here in the crowded lobby forever, exchanging confidences. Come—have dinner with me."

"But for heaven's sake—why?" Diana demanded in utter astonishment.

"Because I want to know more of a girl who thinks it a virtue to be ladylike."

"You don't know my name."

"You can remedy that with two words—you needn't tell me your middle one." He continued to seem highly amused by her fencing.

"I'm not sure it's proper," she said stiffly. "I'm not accustomed to dining with strange men."

"I'm sure you're not. As far as that goes, you know quite well who I am."

Diana was completely bewildered. From her knowledge of Stephen Curt, brief though it was, gleaned from his writings and the glimpse of him in Thorpe's office, she would never have believed him the sort of man to seek a dinner date with a discharged stenographer. He was definitely not the type.

HE was regarding her with ill-concealed amusement, his blue eyes crinkling with laughter. "Have you summed up all the reasons why it would be profitable for you to dine with me?" he asked slyly.

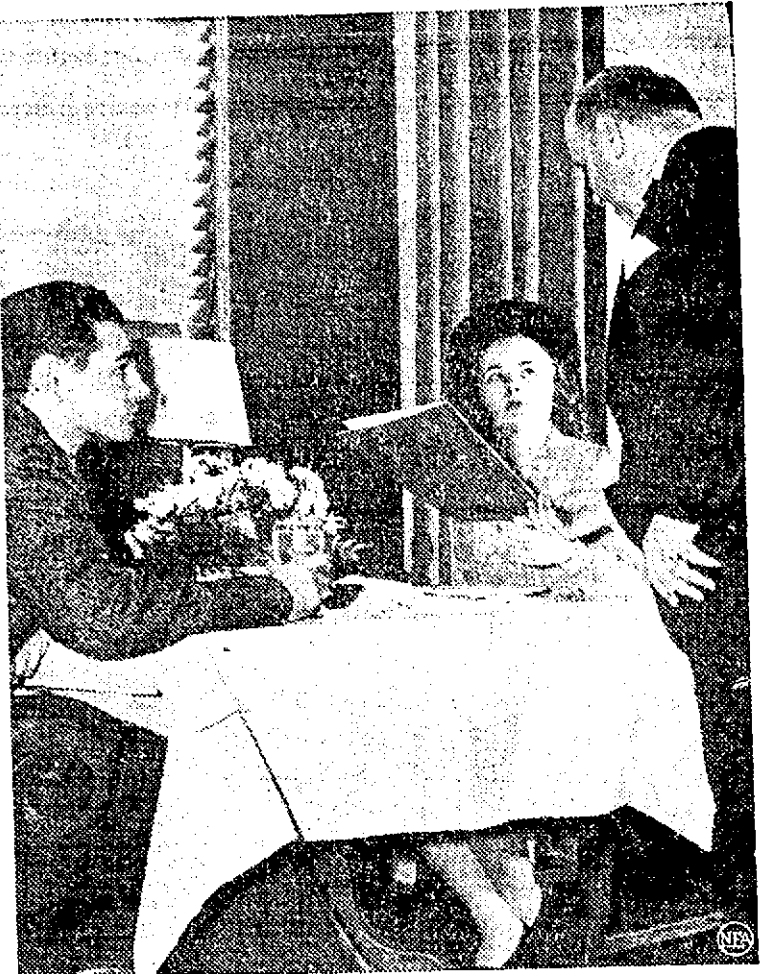

Diana flushed, wondering if in addition to his other accomplishments, he could also read minds. She retorted, "Exactly. I hope you choose a much better place than the one to which I am accustomed."

He took her arm and guided her toward the doorway. "I'll do better than that. I'll let you select the place."

"Then let's make it the Savola," she suggested with the audacious eagerness of a child. "I've always wanted to go there."

"Right."

Moving along the snowy street beside Stephen Curt, Diana was Diana could not believe it was really she, dining in style at the Savola with famous Stephen Curt. He ordered an excellent dinner from a waiter who called him by name, and then turned to Diana and smiled. "Well—for the purpose of the record, what is your name?"

surprised to find how tall he was. Also surprised to realize that she liked him tremendously. Liked the way he swept everything before him, making people do as he wanted. Since coming to the city she had met many men—had not been in the right places. So she had only her father and Bill Jackson—and Richard Thorpe—to measure Stephen by.

Her father was always saying, "Time for Curt," and hovered near the radio, grinning broadly, saying fondly, "It's a wonder someone don't bump that fellow off!"

Diana smiled, thinking how proud her parents would be to know she was dining with Stephen Curt. They'd think she was doing all right in town! In spite of being out of a job.

Stephen said, seeing her smile, "Your thoughts must be worth more than a penny."

"They are. I was thinking of my father. He's one of your special admirers. He'll be glad to know I met you."

"And you? Do you listen to my broadcasts?"

Diana laughed. "Afraid not. I was usually setting the table for supper when you were on the air."

He liked that. Any other woman he knew would have assured him of her undying interest and attention.

"Wait," Diana said suddenly, and stopped to buy a long green pencil from a toothless old croucher in disreputable rags.

"Do you encourage every street beggar you see?" he demanded, half disapprovingly.

She flushed again. "I'm afraid I'm a sucker all right," she admitted apologetically.

"You'd better sterilize that pencil before you use it," he growled. She looked at it, startled. "I hadn't thought of that," she said, and as they were crossing the street he saw her let the pencil fall against the curb. A creature of impulse, he decided.

The Savola was all that she had imagined it. Many people knew nation's needs and through organization of farmers to make the change in a short time.

The Triple-A program, he said, has given farmers the opportunity to overhaul and improve our 'farm factories' until they are able to meet any requirements of the farm defense program.

Parity payments under the 1941 program are more than 75 per cent completed in the state with March 31, 1942, set as the final date for filing of applications for parity payments in the county office.

Payments under the conservation phase of the 1941 program are to be started soon. Final date for filing of applications for conservation payments in the county office is March 31, 1942.

Making a Gift Is Enjoyable

Home Agent Suggests Ways to Spend Winter Nights

Phoebe T. Harris, assistant home demonstration agent suggested Thursday that making Christmas gifts is one way of enjoyably spending the winter evenings.

It will be relaxation from the day's regular work, and will pay liberal rewards in peace of mind to know that everything is in readiness for the coming of Santa. There won't be any last-minute hurrying and rushing, and there won't be any worrying about ill-selected gifts.

Crocheted or knitted articles, such as luncheon mats, collars, caps, mittens, sweaters, baby booties, and hot-dish mats will be gifts that the needle woman will enjoy making.

Members of the family will enjoy such gifts as aprons, smocks, pot lifters, laundry bags, quilts, bed pads, mattress covers, curtains and bedspreads.

And don't forget the stuffed toys and dolls for the little members of the family and in the neighborhood.

With rising food prices, farm products and processed foods will be very acceptable. Miss Harris said. Special pickles, relishes, fruit canners, preserves, nuts, meats, pot lifters and veggie cutters will be choice gifts for the city dwellers.

"Putting some of your own individuality into your gift—whether it be a handmade article or a farm product—will make it a more desirable and appreciated gift," the assistant home demonstration agent said.

After the cooking school, conducted by Miss Mary Claude Fletcher, home demonstration agent, at Columbus, November 25 Miss Harris will demonstrate how to make several articles which will be suitable for Christmas gifts.

Malvern Gets Aluminum Site

New Plant in Malvern-Benton-Hot Springs Triangle

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, announced Wednesday that upon the recommendation of OPM the aluminum plant for Arkansas, including its power facilities, would be located on Lake Catherine, near Malvern, Ark.

The plant will have an annual capacity of 128,000,000 pounds of aluminum and will cost approximately $33,000,000, including power facilities.

The plant will be built by the Aluminum Company of America and operated by it under a five-year lease.

Representative Norrell (Dem., Ark.) had announced earlier that both the aluminum plant and the power plant, which eventually will supply all the power needed to operate it, will be located near Magnet Cove on Lake Catherine, between Malvern and Hot Springs on the "so-called Benton-Malvern-Hot Springs site."

Time Trouble

Until 1883, no two cities kept the same time unless they were on the same meridian. Washington's clocks were 12 minutes behind New York City clocks, which were 11 minutes behind Boston, which were 31 seconds behind the clocks of Boston.

Odyssey

Both President John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, who served as vice president during Adams' term, died on the same day: July 4, 1826.

Your home assignment for today: A LESSON IN CONTRASTS

Is the heating equipment in your home as modern as your automobile?

YOU wouldn't think of driving a 30-year-old car, and yet many families still depend on obsolete equipment to heat their homes. Improvements in heating appliances have been as remarkable as in cars and yet, today, for very little money you can buy modern gas heating equipment that will give you healthful warmth, look better and operate efficiently.

A MODERN floor furnace is the answer to most heating problems. No basement is required, no room space is taken up, and sweating walls are eliminated. You get uniformly-heated air in all parts of the room. Get all the facts today.

Bay View Members Motor to Grassy Lake for Annual Outing

On Wednesday members of the Bay View Reading club assembled at the Arch Moore Lodge at Grassy Lake for the November meeting of the group. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Gus Haynes and Mrs. J. A. Henry.

Guests, who arrived at 11 o'clock, toured the club grounds, which are unusually lovely during the autumn season.

At noon a delicious three course luncheon was served in the hostess' lodge. Large baskets of chrysanthemums centered the two large tables where covers were laid for 22 club members and three guests.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Gus Haynes. The secretary, Mrs. Edwin Ward, read the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. J. G. Mortindale presented the interesting program for the afternoon. As a subject she chose "Patern for thinking—a continuation of the study of the last meeting.

An article on "A Lesson from the Swiss Army" was presented by Mrs. John S. Gibson, Sr. She was followed by Mrs. S. B. Henry, who discussed "What Saved England."

In closing her program, Mrs. Mortindale told of "America's Part in the National Emergency," the theme being that America must withstand all opposing forces as England did.

Guests other than the Bay View Reading club members were Mrs. Henry Haynes, Mrs. Woolson, and Mrs. Slusser.

Buffet Luncheon for Two Clubs

Given by Mrs. C. C. Lewis

Mrs. C. C. Lewis invited the members of the Tuesday Contract club and the Wednesday Bridge club to her home on Wednesday for the weekly bridge games.

Luncheon was served, buffet style, preceding the games. Numerous arrangements of autumnal flowers were noted at vantage points throughout the entertaining rooms.

Concert was played from three tables. After the counting of scores, prizes were awarded Mrs. Helen McRae, Mrs. E. P. Stewart, and Mrs. Kline Snyder.

Jeff B. Graves Methodist Class Party Attended by Many Members

A pot luck supper was served on a large table in the recreational room of the First Methodist church Wednesday evening when the members of the Jeff B. Graves Sunday School class had their monthly social meeting.

As head of the entertainment committee, Mrs. L. W. Edwards announced the various entertainments for the evening.

Among the 29 members and guests was Miss Harriet Cypert of Shreveport.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Arthur Johnson will arrive Friday night from Clinton, Alabama to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. P. Stewart, and Mr. Stewart, for the holiday season.

Miss Harriet Cypert of Shreveport was the overnight guest of her sister, Mrs. K. L. Spore, and the Reverend Spore, Wednesday. She was enroute to Searcy for the Thanksgiving week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal departed Thursday morning for a week-end trip to Memphis and Marianna. While in Memphis, they'll see the Arkansas-O'Neil Miss. game.

Miss Janet Lemley is one of the 17 students in the University of Arkansas College of Arts and Sciences, who is reading for graduation honors. Miss Fern Stephens of Bleivins is also preparing for graduation as an honor student. The news bureau further stated that Joe Wimberly, first year law student at the University, was recently pledged to Delta Theta Phi, honorary legal fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Don Smith returned Wednesday night from Eastland, Texas where they visited relatives and friends.

Mrs. E. M. Hanson and son, Eddie, arrived Wednesday from Chicago for a visit with E. M. Hanson at the L. A. Arnett home, 210 North Main.

Mrs. Rachel O. Jordan attended the 66th annual session of the Grand Chapter of the O. E. S. in Little Rock this week.

OUT OUR WAY

Kryl, Once Assistant to Innes, Now Has Own Band

Bohumir Kryl

In 1898, the Frederick Innes Band, touring in many American cities, the conductor who was having a hard time of keeping the engagements in line and was dickered then for a large contract for an appearance at the St. Louis Exposition, suddenly announced his forced departure from the band in order to go to St. Louis to sign the contract.

The band ready for the evening performance of the concert and the auditorium filled with people, the promoter, pale and trembling, and muttering oaths under his breath asked "Where at this late hour could they get a conductor?" A few of the bands men who scrambled backstage to convey a discreet suggestion and hold a conference as to choosing a director for the evening, had among their number a young diffident and popular cornet soloist, Bohumir Kryl by name, who had repeatedly proved that he knew the music and the interpretations of the masters well.

The question arose as to whom should direct or would like to direct the band for that performance; no one uttered a word and we find Bohumir Kryl speaking up and saying that he would. The men, taken a little by surprise but well aware of his keen musicianship conferred a moment and agreed, "Why not call upon him to direct?"—Despair made the promoter receptive for anything as a relief in this hour of need and so we find him accepting their feasible plan and shortly, a mere youth, wearing his well-tailored uniform nervous but confident, walking out upon the platform and stopping at the conductor's stand. He took the baton, raised his arms and then, without noticing anything in front of him, waved his hands in the air and brought the baton down to begin the program. The men, swept by confidence and electrified by something magnetic about the pluck and confidence of this youth, who was the youngest member of the organization by a wide margin, played and followed as they never did before. The audience, keen to the situation, had never heard a band perform such as this, and the young conductor—directing by inspiration, so stirred the imagination of the audience that he received gigantic acclaim and a tremendous ovation from them for his musicianship and ability.

So many were the compliments passed upon Bohumir Kryl by the public and so high were the praises of the musicians that upon his return to the band, Mr. Innes immediately elevated Kryl to the position of assistant conductor of his organization. Thus brilliantly was the name of Kryl introduced to the music world as a conductor.

The following year, we find Kryl engaged as cornet soloist and assistant conductor with what was regarded by many people as the most outstanding musical organization of the decade.

To uniquely demonstrate the pluck and determination of courage of Bohumir Kryl, we find that while engaged upon a long engagement in Cincinnati, Ohio, Kryl left Innes after some controversy, and with high hopes, and an insight toward the future, he did the heretofore unheard of thing, by booking an extensive tour of twenty-two weeks, arranging for and forming his own band of fifty men the following year.

Thus the founding of the now internationally and "world famous" Kryl band, the discovery and the introduction of one of America's most colorful and prominent conductors of the present day was brought about.

Since that time, his career has risen persistently to greater glory until in 1917, we find one of the many great honors being conferred upon him when the United States Government commissioned him with the supervising and training of all the Army Bands in the various training camps in our country. Today, as he was before and has been immediately after the World War period, we find Bohumir Kryl leading one of the most popular organizations that has ever toured our American continent.

It will be one of the outstanding musical treats and a rare privilege for the music lovers of Hope to hear this wonderful Symphony Orchestra in their appearance at the Saenger theater on Tuesday night, November 25, under the sponsorship of the Friday Music club.

Commendation Given Lt. Lex C. Helms, Jr.

First Lt. Lex C. Helms Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lex Helms, South Main street, has been given a commendation for his performance during the Army maneuvers in Louisiana by order of Major General Ridley of the Sixth Division. The order, signed by Major A. L. Price, cites Lt. Helms as follows: "The commanding general commends First Lt. Lex C. Helms, Company 'C', 63rd Infantry, for his actions near Weaver, La., September 18, 1941. Marching along a road with proper security, Company 'C' was cut off by an unexpected enemy penetration. Right flank guards saw two enemy soldiers and while bringing them in, saw two companies of the enemy in a draw. Lt. Helms immediately disposed his company for action knowing he faced at least a battalion. Shortly by it was evident Company 'C' faced a regiment. Before his position was overrun by weight of numbers Lt. Helms so fought his company that he held up the enemy for one hour and 15 minutes and,

Clubs

Shover Springs
The Shover Springs Home Demonstration club met November 16 with Mrs. J. G. Allen. There were six members and two visitors present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. McWilliams who gave some interesting points on our fair booth.

The club voted to pay expense of the fair booth out of the treasury.

Mrs. J. B. Beckworth, Mrs. Sam England and Mrs. Lester Mullins were appointed Red Cross chairmen for this community.

Mrs. McWilliams announced the Art exhibit to be held in Hope from the 17 to 23 of this month. Any one who wishes to send an exhibit may do so.

New officers were appointed, also the meeting places for the club, the coming year were arranged.

One new member, Mrs. Karol Mullins was present.

Mrs. L. L. Day won the package. Meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. M. A. Muckabee for our program the second Monday in December.

Each member is to carry a gift and a covered dish and spend the day.

Did you ever
coddle an apple
the KARO way?
It's the simplest sort of dessert to make—but so colorful, so flavorful! Come—make a hit with your family tonight! Serve apples "coddled" to melting tenderness, and flavored to the Queen's taste with Karo Syrup and spices! Here's the recipe:
KARO CODDLED APPLES
8 medium sized apples
8 whole cloves
1 piece stick cinnamon
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup Karo (red label)
Wash and core apples. Do not peel. Place in a saucepan; add spices, water and Karo. Cover, and cook very slowly about 1 hour or until tender. Makes 8 servings.
Remember—Karo Syrup adds food value as well as delicious flavor to meals.

Seventh Annual Meet of State
 Farm Bureau

Farmers to Deliberate Unusually Large Number of Major Issues

Arkansas farmers will deliberate on an unusually large number of major issues, many of them arising from the war emergency, when the seventh annual meeting of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation is held in Little Rock, Nov. 20-21, and the important Resolutions Committee has been asked to convene a day in advance of the general convention, W. J. Frasier, executive secretary of the organization, announced Saturday.

Foremost, he said, probably will be the question of protective legislation since the Agricultural Adjustment Act and its 85 percent of parity price loan program for basic commodities, and the Steagall Amendment, which places a floor of 85 percent of parity under non-basic commodities, all of which expire at the close of the present marketing year unless they are extended by the congress.

Other issues of national significance expected to get much attention include the trend toward inflation, price-fixing legislation, and the necessity for strengthening the farm credit system. The usual amount of study will be given to problems which are strictly local in nature insofar as the state of Arkansas is concerned.

The next year's program of the Farm Bureau is formulated at the annual meeting each fall, resolutions adopted by the delegate body becoming the policies of the organization for the ensuing 12 months.

J. H. Snapp of Fitchburg, vice-president of the Farm Bureau, will serve as chairman of the Resolutions Committee, with the following farm leaders as members: Charles R. Coleman, Osceola; Otis W. Howe, Walnut; S. C. Mack, Newport; William Siedenschwartz, Hazen; Afton Wheeler, Huntsville; O. B. Pyle, Bruno; John Hobbs, Rudy; John Tutt, DeQueen; Roy Wilson, Ozark; Oscar Koone, Morrilton; J. L. Smith, Alexander; Gordon R. Brown, Scott; Fred Blanks, Parkdale; and W. E. Miller, Gurdon.

Members of the Credentials Committee: W. T. Jones, Madison, chairman; S. A. Johnson, Marion; R. L. Blair, Melbourne; T. A. Cornelius, Hope; and E. H. Pritchett, Lavaca.

Mr. Frasier also announced that with the acceptance of Gov. Homer M. Adkins of a place on the program, arrangements for the two-day meeting had been completed. The Governor will speak at the morning session on Nov. 21. Other speakers who will be heard the same day include: W. R. Ogg, legislative representative for the American Farm Bureau Federation; L. W. Duggan, Southern Regional Director for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration; and Aubrey D. Gates, assistant director for the Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. J. O. Christianson, superintendent of the School of Agriculture, University Farm, University of Minnesota will speak at the annual banquet on the evening of Nov. 20, and the President's and Executive Secretary's annual reports will be made on the opening day by R. E. Short of Brinkley and Mr. Frasier, respectively.

Adoption of resolutions and election of officers will be the closing feature of the meeting, however, board members will be elected by congressional districts on the opening day.

An open forum discussion, with presidents of county organizations comprising a panel, will be a new feature of the convention program, Mr. Frasier said. Entertainment will be supplied by Home Demonstration Club and 4-H Club members from various counties in the state.

Stockpiles of Food for Peace

Here is what the U. S. Department of Agriculture means when it urges farmers to help produce "stockpiles of food for use after the war." The upper picture shows barrels of dried milk, just as good a year from now as today. The lower picture shows a warehouse filled with huge drums of cheese, even better with aging. These farm products, plus condensed milk, dried milk, cured pork, and canned meat and vegetables, constitute the stockpiles of defense food which, says Secretary Claude R. Wickard, will be needed by hungry Europe and "will exert the maximum influence at the peace conference table."

Trying to Get Their Irish Up

Newest chapter on the Irish situation is an attempt to organize an American Irish Defense Association as an active anti-Nazi force in the country. Asking the Americans of Irish descent to support the British is too much, so the slogan adopted by the organization is "You Can Count on the Irish—Mr. President." Backing the U. S. foreign policy and working for an allied victory—not a British victory—are the objectives.

Recent orders that government departments were going to save a lot of money and a lot of paper by single spacing all their announcements and using both sides of the sheet were just so much talk. Principally, only the defense agencies paid any attention to the order. Others have gone right ahead with the old extravagant hand-out habits.

Truckin' Into the Treasury

Senator Truman's committee investigating national defense has consistently trained its guns on big game, but some of the little animals that have been driven out of the bushes make the most interesting and significant reading. There is, for instance, the matter of truck rentals on government construction projects. At the Milan ordinance works in Tennessee, there was one truck in particular which came to the attention of the committee's chief consul, Hugh Fulton. This truck was listed as having cost $2100 new. The contractor at the Milan plant paid out $1520 in rental for the use of the truck, then released it to its owner. Further investigation, however, disclosed that this truck wasn't new on the Milan job. It had been used previously in construction at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Rental on the truck there had been paid by the contractor to the tune of $2250.

Adding up the rentals brought the amazing figure of $3750 for the use of the truck, and the government still didn't own it.

Correct procedure in this instance would have been for the government to reimburse the truck after the payment of $2100 rentals at Fort Leonard Wood, assuming that the cost

From Alaska

Editor The Star: The writer will be a new name to you and practically the entire population of Hope but to me all that is left is the "handshaking" to become well acquainted and to feel at home around Hope, as I have heard numerous names of people in Hope and vicinity from my associations with men from our company whose homes are mostly at or near Hope.

I feel very fortunate to be attached to a unit so friendly and that has shown me so much hospitality after considering the possible chances of being assigned to some other unit during the emergency.

On my arrival at Camp Robinson it was difficult to become acquainted with all the men (not boys anymore) but during the Tennessee maneuvers I was fully able to see the type men we had in the company. If there are any that can "take it" the men of your vicinity are the leaders. Many days and nights of hot, dusty, dreary weather was encountered only to see the men come through with flying colors and ready for more.

Now being in an entirely new part of the world with new people, traits, land and industries it is very interesting to watch and work with a group who first go to accomplish their mission and set the record even before the many new attractions are investigated. That alone in one of the many reasons why you will see or read that the job was well done when they leave just as it has been done before.

The various articles that have been written pertaining to "homecoming receptions" for different units are amusing as my home is located in northern United States and upon my arrival at Hope Robinson I was immediately given the nickname "Yank" which has followed me from Arkansas to Alaska. Being the only Yank I was against too great odds and soon had to give in.

There are many interesting and educational industries near Nome that, no doubt, many have written home fully describing but I know many interesting letters are still to be written describing the new adventure, scenery and many other items of interest to the people of Hope. I know of one main thought confronting most people and that is pertaining to the weather conditions near Nome. I have obtained an am enclosing the statistics of the weather for the year 1940. As you will notice the weather here is very similar to portions of northern United States and in many instances milder. The men are fast becoming adapted to the climate and are all well and very healthy. Our only hindrance has been a few cases of mumps.

It is very interesting to watch the eagerness for letters whenever mail is distributed, to receive the news from home. From the appearance of the quantity of letters received a person would hardly doubt the possibility ten or twelve would be left standing alone anxiously awaiting to hear the news of the last letter which eliminates one more but for the rest it means "next time."

I know of no other way of producing a higher morale among the men than through the mail as they can no longer drive home to visit friends over week-ends. I do not contend that their morale is low as their morale is and always has been among the highest.

I would be more than glad to receive figure of $2100 was correct. Then the truck could have been used rent free at as many other construction jobs. Irregularities of this sort were expected at a new construction job and the Army's attention. What turns up the investigators is that these lessons are never learned.

The Battle of Annapolis

Just a couple of paragraphs up the road from Washington, Annapolis, Md. recently became as crowded as the capital, but for a slightly different reason. Annapolis has always been one of the Navy's favorite towns because the Naval Academy is there. But under the impact of the defense effort, with the Atlantic fleet greatly augmented for patrol duty and the officers at sea most of the time, Annapolis has become the mecca for a whole flock of Navy wives. Remembering the sleepy old town as a place where rents were cheap, the temporary widows automatically migrated in that direction to settle down for the duration.

Along came the academy's fall and winter social season, however, and the midshipmen began asking their best girls down for the hops. To their consternation, they found rooms were scarce. The prices soared for a room to park a best girl in for the week-end. Then the Annapolis landladies began to get smart. They saw they could make more money for less work putting up a hop girl for a week-end than they could by keeping regular full-time renters. Their solution to this problem was to tell the widows to pack their belongings and leave. And the battle between the widows and the midshipmen is raging with more fury than the battle of the Atlantic.

Industrial Research

Two thousand companies employed 32,000 scientists and spent $215,000,000 in industrial research in the United States during 1939.

Editor's Note: The temperature tables mailed by Lieut. Koenig, while not printed in full by The Star, show that the coldest temperature for the year 1940 at Nome, Alaska, was 33 degrees below zero, in January. Below-zero readings occurred in four months, 33 in January, 27 in February, 19 in March, and 23 in December. For the summer months, the highest temperature was 76, in June. The maximum for July was 65, and for August 68. However, in the same month of June the variation was from a high of 76 down to a low of 34—and there were similar low figures of 39 and 35 degrees for July and August, respectively... indicating that the soldiers aren't likely to go swimming on Alaskan summer night!
